Green interest with inflation protection: RE15 EnergieZins 2025 new on innvestment.eu | Investment from 1,000 euros

Berlin, 21 December 2020. As part of the cooperation between the digital investment and financing platform Innovestment, Berlin, and the reconcept Group, the latest bond of the Hamburg-based project provider, RE15 EnergieZins 2025, is also available as a partner offer on innvestment.eu. As with the parallel offering, the RE14 Multi Asset-Anleihe, the minimum investment in the RE15 EnergieZins 2025 bond on innvestment.eu is 1,000 euros instead of the usual 5,000 euros on other platforms. This allows an even broader target group to invest in green investments that improve the performance of a portfolio and switch to future energies instead of conventional, climate-damaging industries.

The RE15 EnergieZins 2025 bond also has another advantage for investors: In addition to the fixed interest rate of 4 per cent, there is a variable component that is based on the inflation rate each year. If this amounts to around 1.5 percent, as in 2019, the interest payment increases accordingly to 5.5 percent in the following year. "What counts in the account is the real interest rate," says Christin Friedrich, managing partner of Innovestment. "The built-in inflation compensation protects the invested capital from its loss in value - a move by reconcept that we think is responsible and all-round sustainable in the interests of investors."

The capital raised will flow into the expansion of the reconcept Group and into new renewable energy projects in the core markets of Germany, Finland and Canada. These include wind energy, hydropower and solar projects. In Canada, where reconcept has been active for six years, these include floating tidal current plants. "FORCE 1" is considered technologically leading, its successor "FORCE 2" is already in the works. In Finland, too, there is still great potential after seven years on the market: the current project pipeline there includes wind turbines at around ten locations. From these, reconcept will again develop attractive investment products.
